The space

This light filled mid century home in a quiet leafy street certainly takes you back in time. With most rooms on the first floor, the winding staircase in the entrance welcomes you to a bygone era, that awaits above. With large windows inviting the outside in, each room individually showcasing its modernist roots, metallic wallpaper, deep blue tiles in the kitchen and the feature point, the timber screen doors separating living and dining areas. This home has retained its original features , making it a treasure trove for period shoots.
